

If I were the manager of ...

There are many problems nowadays that we should solve. Energetic consume, take advantage of natural resources, employee motivation and take advantage of human resources to fight the crisis that we've been hardly facing nowadays.

So If I were the manager of a computer enterprise, I would:

- Use economic lamps and awareness sensors;
- Reduce water pressure from taps;
- Take advantage of rain water for the garden/ toilet flush/ cleanings;
- OpenSource share plataforma;
- Implement renewable energy solutions;

So If I were the manager of a computer enterprise, I would:

- Tutorship activities – older employees would welcome, teach and help supervising new employees thus creating a friendly environment;
- Give employees an opportunity to work with the best hardware equipment (employees motivation);
- Use renewable material on computer structure;
- Create the “ express yourself day” (following the safety rules at work, of course);

So If I were the manager of a computer enterprise, I would:

- Stop printing useless documents, just print very important ones;
- Implement shifts (night and day) so the company never stopped working;
- Distribute company's shares by the employees and/or extra monetary benefits whenever the profits overcome expectations.
